

Airmiq PVC duct systems provide a lightweight, corrosion-resistant solution for low-pressure ventilation in residential and light commercial applications. Available in both round and rectangular profiles, these systems are ideal for exhaust and supply air where space, appearance, or ease of installation is a priority.

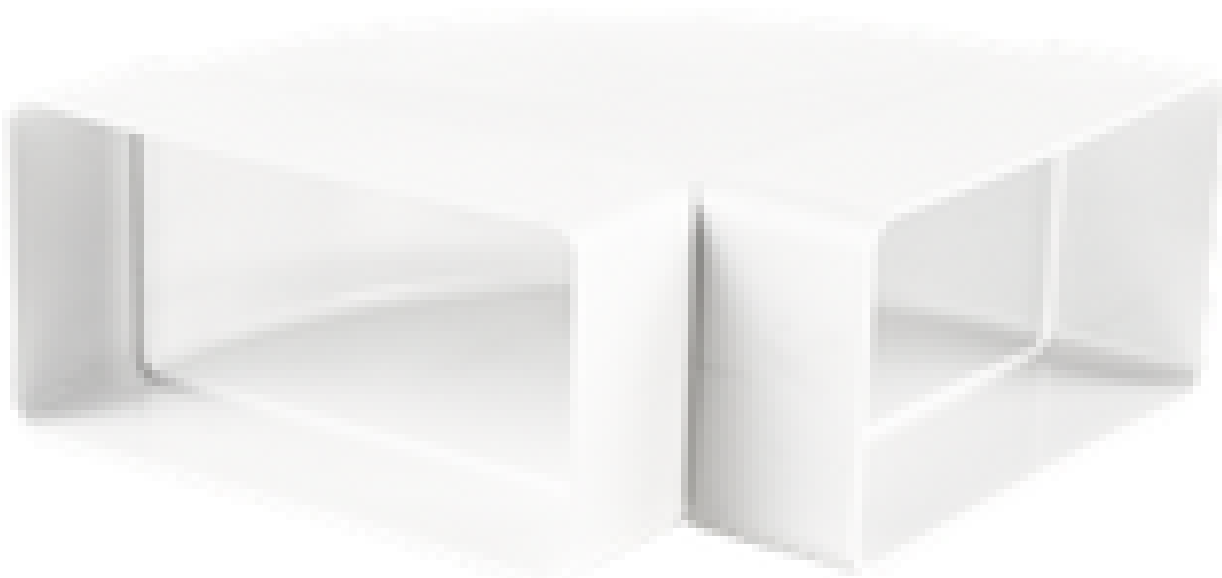

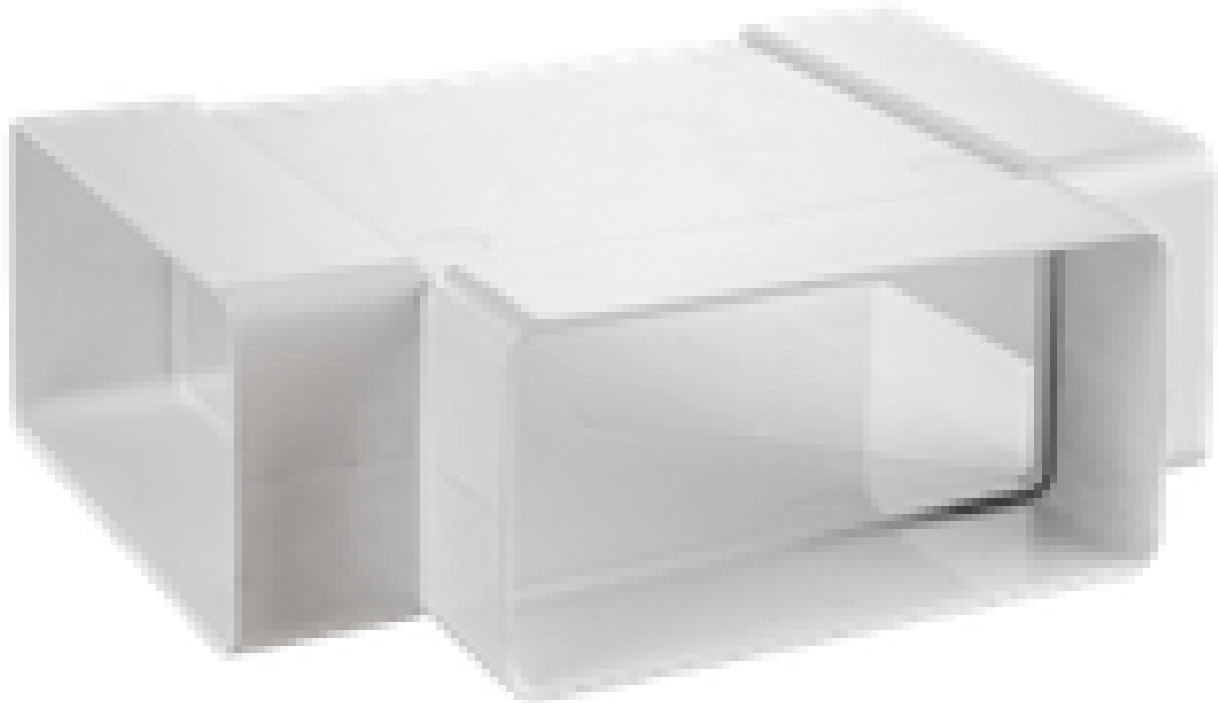

Manufactured from high-quality, fire-resistant PVC, the duct components are easy to cut, fit, and seal - making them perfect for bathrooms, kitchens, laundry rooms, and other internal ducted systems.

- Available in round and rectangular profiles to suit different space constraints
- Lightweight and easy to install with simple taped or glued connections
- Corrosion and fire-resistant PVC for long-lasting performance
- Smooth internal surface minimises airflow resistance and dust buildup
- Ideal for domestic extraction and general-purpose ventilation
- Full range of fittings, bends, reducers, and connectors available
